UNIONTOWN ATTORNEY'S HOME WRECKED BY BOMB

Another Rip-Roarin' Fourth of July Furnished By Legion

J. W. DAWSON AND FAMILY ESCAPE INJURY; FRONT PORCH IS TORN OFF BY BOMB

Uniontown, Pa., July 5.—A bomb was hurled at the residence of Attorney J. W. Dawson here today, tearing away the front porch and damaging windows of nearby residences. The Dawson family were not injured. Mrs. J. B. Adams, who occupies a dwelling on the opposite side of the street, told the police she saw a man leaping in an automobile after he had stepped from the machine and hurled the bomb on the porch.

BUSINESS ON THE UPGRADE WITH EIG INDUSTRIES REPORTING O. K.

Washington, D. C., July 5.—Business is booming again, the Department of Commerce said today. Investigations just made show that the tide of prosperity is rising steadily. Out of forty-two industries canvassed thirty-eight show increases over the preceding month. The Department issued a warning against business men practicing credence, pointing out that they cause periods of depression.

HOOVER AND DAVIS HOPE TO GET HARD COAL PRODUCTION

Washington, D. C., July 5.—Strong pressure was brought to bear to lay on the anthracite section of President Harding's coal peace conference for a resumption of hard coal operation within ten days. Secretary of Commerce Hoover and Secretary of Labor Davis hope to have the anthracite men reach an agreement to call off the strike by the time the bituminous action commences here next week. An agreement by the hard coal men may swing the soft coal men into line, it is believed.

Mr. and Mr. Charles R. and son of this city spent the Fourth among Clearfield friends.

IRISH GIRLS AND WOMEN PARTICIPATE IN REBEL WARFARE

Kingstown, Ireland, July 5.—Armed bands of bandits and insurgents, including Irish women and girls carrying revolvers and black-jacks, were rounded up and captured in the hills in County Wicklow today by Free State troops. The bands have been invading villages in the valley, descending from the mountains in swift were night raids. Millinery shops were especially singled out for looting by the bandits.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira J. Kramer of Shaw and Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Kramer and family of Clearfield returned home a week end trip to Jersey Shore where they visited the former's daughter, Mrs. R. A. Livingston.

Fourteen Month Old Babe Killed In Tragic Manner

The little fourteen months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dale met a tragic death yesterday afternoon when he fell into a pit at the outhouse of the E. M. Fullington's Sons farm on Hilldale and was drowned.

Mr. Dale was working in the garden in the afternoon and the little tot was playing about the yard. While his father's eye was off him for a minute the child tumbled into the outhouse and fell into the pit.

When he missed the child the father went to the house thinking he had returned to his mother. Not finding him there and remembering he had last seen him near the outhouse, both father and mother rushed into the building and were terribly shocked to see the body of their little one in the pit.

The child was removed as quickly as possible and every effort made to revive him but of no avail. It is thought the child had been in the pit for five minutes before being discovered.

WELL DRESSED GIRL SWEEPED INTO AUTO BY KIDNAPPERS

Philadelphia, Pa., July 5.—Two men in an automobile swept a well-dressed young woman from her feet as she waited for a street car here last night and kidnapped her. Two men who witnessed the kidnapping fired a fusillade after the car and a chase of more than a mile ensued by the kidnappers escaped. Flyers describing the car were flashed to every substation in the vicinity.

BUTCHER WHO SOLD HUMAN FLESH KILLS SELF IN HIS CELL

Berlin, Germany, July 5.—Grossman, the Butcher, on trial for the brutal murder of women he had seduced and whose flesh he later sold in his butcher shop, committed suicide here today by hanging himself in his cell. A sensation was caused in court yesterday when two of his women victims climbed the railing around the prisoner and attacked him with hat pins. Grossman escaped injury after a struggle with the infuriated women.

FORTY KILLED IS TOLL TAKEN BY THE FOURTH

New York, N. Y., July 5.—Forty persons were killed and more than two hundred and fifty were injured in the County's Fourth of July celebration, according to reports to the United Press today. New York where children spent thousands of dollars for fireworks leads the Country in the number of fatalities. Bathing beaches also contributed a large number of drownings.

Leitzinger Bros., Commercial Club and Moore Brothers Carry Off Honor Places In Fine Parade. --- Airplane Men Were Great and Sports Fine.

LET'S GO AGAIN NEXT FOURTH

John Shade Post of the American Legion certainly deserves the congratulation of every Clearfielder and every person who visited Clearfield yesterday to participate in the big 4th of July celebration held by the Legion.

Weather Conditions Ideal

The weather man who had been acting very badly for the month previously, was as good as a boy at Sunday School for the Christmas treat and gave us ideal weather conditions. The crowd appreciated the fine weather conditions headed for Clearfield from every point of the compass and by 10 o'clock parade time, the main streets of the town over which the big industrial parade was routed were lined on both sides by solid banks of humanity from curb to building line.

The List of Prize Winners

The parade, which, while not quite so large as last years, was fine in every respect, a large number of the floats eclipsing any previous Clearfield performance.

There were no less than seven bands in the line of march, which added greatly to the spirit and enthusiasm of the patriotic crowd of onlookers.

Parade Was Very Creditable

The parade judges had an unenviable job deciding on the float winner by reason of the high standard of general excellence of this year's floats. Clearfield enterprise and thoroughness was apparent throughout each and everyone and the applause and favorable comment received all along the line compensated those failing to win parade prizes for the effort they made in preparing floats or exhibits. The judges finally agreeing upon the following awards:

First prize for beauty and artistic design was given the beautiful float of Leitzinger Bros. A. W. Leonardson Co. and Clearfield Hardware were even second and third prizes with a statement from the judges that the two displays were so near equal that they were undecided as to which was the better or the more handsome of the two.

In Class No. 2 for the best advertisement or demonstration the first prize was given Moore Brothers, plasters, with the Gearhart Knitting Machine Co. in second place and Boyd Crisman's blacksmith shop on wheels in third place.

Among the fraternal organizations first prize was given to the Commercial Club for its splendid idea and ship, with the Red Men second and Trinity Methodist Choir in third place.

The first prizes in each class were splendid silver cups properly inscribed and the winners have every reason to be proud of their success in this endeavor.

Afternoon at the Park

A splendid program for the afternoon and evening at the park consisted of band concerts, galore, aeroplane stunts, baseball, track and field athletics, horse racing, motor cycle polo, darning, boxing, etc., gave every visitor opportunity to follow his natural bent in seeking pleasure and recreation and left nothing to be desired.

There was something doing all the time. Windy South and the airplane flying stunt opened the program for the afternoon. Hank Cole the fearless aviator with his "dare-devil" stunts handed out some real thrills as he hobbled about on the top of the wings of the machine as it doated gracefully several hundred feet in the air. He completed his part of the program by dropping from the plane in a parachute landing without accident on the flat back of J. C. Meyer's residence on Second Street.

Philadelphia Wins Ball Game

The Philadelphia Athletics with "old man" Stover in the box, shone too highly for the local Legion team and copped a highly interesting game by the score of 3 to 1. The detailed score follows.

Mrs. Jones, who is 76 years of age, suffered severely from the shock. She was taken to the Clearfield Hospital where the fracture was reduced and she was able to be removed to her home today.

MILLION DOLLAR POSTAL ROBBERY NEARS SOLUTION WITH ARRESTS

New York, N. Y., July 5.—Recovery of $1,500,000 loot from one of the sensational postal robberies in years was near today as Gordon McCarty, human blood-hound, brought the gang of Edward Bryce, alleged gentleman crook, into court Bryce, standing before United States Commissioner Hitchcock with a cane waving on his arm and a monocle on his eye, the Count, as he was known to his gang, was arraigned on charge of robbing the mails of bonds valued at $2,000,000. Charles P. Hinds and Charles Lambert, charged with assisting in the robberies, were also present and arraigned with Bryce. A woman, known as Bryce's wife, was also in the gang. Authorities have unearthed $500,000 worth of swag. $400,000 worth of securities were found buried under a tree on Long Island. The remainder was found in a trunk in Bryce's Gramercy Park apartment.

TWO KILLED BY TRAIN ENROUTE TO HOSPITAL WITH VICTIM OF HOLDUP

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 5.—While accompanying a hold-up victim to the Mercy Hospital two persons were killed when a Baltimore & Ohio express train crushed the automobile in which they were traveling near Port Perry. The dead are Dr. F. L. Morrow, aged 32, of North Braddock, and Mrs. Jos. E. Wakeman.

REBELLION OF RORY O'CONNOR REPORTED TO BE NEARING END

Dublin, Ireland, July 5.—Hemmed in by an inferno of flames and with the guns of the free state troops sending shell after shell to spread the destruction along Sackville Street, the last despairing little band of rebels was at the point of surrender this afternoon. The entire block held by the extremists was afire and the rebellion of Rory O'Connor was near its end. Before nightfall the raging flames must drive the insurgents onto the bayonets of the free state troops or consume them within the buildings they are defending.

General Grant's Boyhood.

Ulysses Grant was what was called in the neighborhood of Georgetown, O., where he lived from his second until he was sent to West Point, "a horse boy." He liked to ride and drive them and was not expected to take kindly to books, and Ulysses was the most of the boys of the age in the fact of being a horse boy, but only in a poetic sense. At three years of age he took to arithmetic before they took to the written word, and in doing the things given the classes in mental arithmetic, Grant proved a star.

Animal Mimicry.

Men of nature are frequently the singular resemblances to leaves, dried sticks and so forth, and these likenesses are supposed to have grown out of the necessity of detection a host of concealment. An interesting example of this kind of resemblance was recently cited by a government naturalist, who exhibited a spider and inhabiting some rocks near Cannes, on which were so fastened the cases of a species of moth. When at rest the spider exhibited almost precisely the same form and color as the rocks surrounding it. —Exchange.

CURWENSVILLE

The Fourth of July celebration at Curwensville was a decided success. The cool weather, instead of dampening added zeal to the enthusiasm of the participants. The day opened with an excellent parade at 10 A. M., comprising several bands, the different lodges and numerous beautiful and original floats. The basket picnic at Irvin Park followed. At 2 o'clock the races started. These included the yard dash, high jump, broad jump, three legged race, etc. The winners were awarded valuable prizes donated by the various merchants of the town.

The races were followed by an exciting ball game between Glen Richey and the home team, the latter winning by the score of 4-2. In the evening the town offered various forms of entertainment, chiefly among them being band concerts, fire works and dances at the American Legion rooms and Moose Hall respectively.

Every one felt that he and she owed a debt of gratitude to the committees who had put forth such strenuous efforts to make this day the success that it was.

Fireworks in the Evening

A crowd estimated conservatively at eight thousand people crowded the park during the afternoon and fully one half that number stayed over or returned in the evening for the Legion band concert, the dancing and the fireworks display. The latter was one of the most spectacular seen here in recent years and easily eclipsed last year's effort, giving very general satisfaction.

Boxing Contest Draws Crowd

The boxing contest scheduled for 9:30 attracted a crowd of more than 600 people into the improvised arena erected on the track in front of the grand stand. The efforts of the American Legion and their buddies in the World War greatly popularized boxing. This popularity locally being attested by the character of the fans present last evening, many women being noted in the stands among the lawyers, doctors, bankers, coal barons merchants and unpeccable newspaper men. They were all given a real run for their money. This feature was in the very capable hands of Berna Kelly of McKeesport, one of the most reputable promoters in the Pittsburgh region. He put on a highly creditable card and made many friends during his stay in Clearfield by his gentlemanly bearing and demeanor and his square dealing.

The boxing bouts were three in number and scheduled to give the fans twenty six rounds of action. They did not go the entire route thanks to the fact that knockouts in the first two events made this possible.

K. O. Ferry Gets in Bad

The preliminary brought together Knockout Ferry of McKeesport and Billy Dalton of Altoona. Ferry had a little the edge on Dalton for size and succeeded in roughing his smaller opponent after four rounds of slap bang hammering. At the finish Dalton was knocked against the ropes and tumbled out of the ring on his head. It took his handlers several minutes to bring him around. Ferry was cautioned several times by Referee Bill Davis for unfair tactics in the ring. At the conclusion of the bout when Ferry got out of the ring a local scout called him a coward for his actions in the ring and Ferry swung on the boy. Chief of police McMullen nabbed Ferry and he was saved a trip to the cooler by the Scout kid who told the officer he was to blame for the mixup and asked that Ferry be released.

Jack Provisti Scores K. O.

Jack Provisti of McKeesport, easily disposed of Johnny Kerston of Pittsburgh in the semi-final, a short right to the jaw and left to the stomach laying Kerston low in the fourth round. Boreland and Mulligan Real Battlers Eddie Boreland, the pride of McKeesport and Young Mulligan of Pittsburgh put up a rattling ten round go with honors pretty near even at the finish. Boreland is a rugged slugger of the Dempsey type and handed some mighty heavy wallops. Mulligan was as fast as chain lightning and appeared to have no trouble to land his left on Boreland's head and face but did not have the steam behind his punches the McKeesport battler showed. It was a very pretty exhibition and both boys were given rousing hands at the finish.

Bill Davis the local referee gave general satisfaction as the third man in the ring.

Munson Man Won Car

The Franklin Touring car given away by the American Legion was won by Robert J. Davis of Munson. His was the seventh ticket drawn from the box, that being the one agreed upon before the drawing was held.

Eskimo Not Dainty Feeder.

The Eskimo is not particular about the cut of his meat. He eats everything physically possible of a reindeer or fish or polar bear (and what he does not eat he wears or makes into houses or tools). Particularly does he seem to relish the frozen stomach of the reindeer. This stomach, full of finely chewed reindeer moss, he freezes solid and stores away, according to Doctor Marquis, until he is vitamin hungry, when a piece is sliced off, thawed out and eaten as a rare delicacy.

IT'S A MISTAKE

Many people in a misguided effort to get rid of kidney troubles, rely on plasters, liniment and other makeshifts. The right treatment is kidney treatment and a remarkably recommended kidney medicine is Doan's Kidney Pills. Clearfield is no exception.

When an attack came on my back has been lame and sore and I have had dull, bearing down pains across my kidneys. My kidneys acted too frequently and I had nervous spells. Chemical Knowledge Spreads.
More and more it is coming to be taken for granted that the chemical elements are made up of identical atoms, and that they differ only in their structural arrangements. More and more the passage from one element to another which has so dumfounded science when it was first observed taking place spontaneously is coming to be a matter of course and something which we may ultimately hope to control.

Weather Affects Wireless.

A curious thing about wireless telegraphy is the way it is affected by sunrise and sunset. Transatlantic signals during the day are invariably clear, but those received at sunrise and sunset are said to be barely distinguishable.

IF YOUR HOME IS AWNAGED THE HOT WEATHER AHEAD WILL BE BORNE MUCH EASIER

And you'll be surprised to find how little it will cost you to have your home awnaged from top to bottom. The sleeping rooms will be cooler, the kitchen will be more endurable, the porch will be a place where you'll pass many an hour if you have awnings up to keep these places cool.

ON THE KIDDIES' MILK DEPENDS THEIR HEALTH

Taking it for granted that your kiddies drink lots of milk, the sort of milk they get either makes or mars their health. If the milk—such milk as we leave on hundreds of porches in this city every morning—is right, the kiddies will thrive and get husky and strong. And that's because they are protected from disease and what not through the medium of pasteurization.

This process does away with all sorts of germs and renders your milk as pure as it comes from the heavens.

And when we fill those prescriptions, that's what you get—just what he orders.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

Uncle Sam tells the world that 36-
398,958 of his nephews and nieces
have foreign blood. This means that one-third of our population have more
recently migrated to America than
the other two thirds of their progenitors. Never-the-less, the country marvelously retains its character. The earlier American stock with its Anglo-Saxon spiritual tradition, benevolently and beneficially assimilates the
millions of newcomers as fellow members in a human democracy—Americans all.

It is just one darn war after another
that is plaguing humanity. Here
we are, just beginning to feel that there is a possibility of ending all
wars between the nations when along
comes a long haired scientist or bug-
ologist who tells us that:

The next war will be a war upon
insects.

Human beings have their differences with each and other and occasionally indulge in a fight, but the enemy
of the entire human race is the insect.

There are five times as many insects as there are kinds of all other
living things put together.

It is estimated that there are 750-
000 sorts of insects, without counting
the parasitic creatures

Of beetles alone there are over 100,
000 varieties

Some time ago a scientist took a census of five ant hills. He killed all
the inhabitants with poison gas and counted the dead. There were over 100,000 in these five hills.

Some of the hills of the termites or
white ants must contain many millions of inhabitants.

In a hornets nest there are somewhere around 400 population, or perhaps 200 would be a better average.
Even this is too many, for while bees
make honey and even wasps have
their good points, such as killing flies,
the hornet is a bad one. He is a mur-derer, a drunkard, a thief, a cannibal,
also his sting is a serious matter.

One of the greatest enemies to the human race is the housefly. Prof.
Howard has calculated that a single
female fly, could in one season, become the ancestor of 4,472,286,103-328,713,559,320 flies. Of course if she produced all these flies and they lived
here would not be room enough on
the planet for such a multitude.

The only way that the number of insects is kept down is by the continual war among themselves and the war
of other animals upon them.

There is a relative term. Human creatures should have peace among themselves, if only because they need
all their combined energies to war up-
on their common enemies.

America's First "Zoo"

Independence square in Philadelphia
was the site of America's first zoological garden. It was there that Charles Wilson Peale, in 1794, transferred the museum which for a decade
previous he had maintained in his home, Third and Lombard streets. The Philosophical society, at Sixth and Chestnut streets, gave him permission
to use its building for his large collection of portraits of men of the Revolution. He started the zoological garden in the rear of the building. An eagle was among the living specimens.
Above its cage was an inscription:
"Feed me well and I will live a hundred years."

Reassuring.

Six-year-old Dora returned unusu-
ally early from school the other day.
She rang the door bell. There was no answer. She rang again, a little longer. Still there was no response.
A third time she pressed the button,
long and hard. Nobody came to the door, and she pressed her nose against
the window pane and in a shrill voice,
which caught the ears of every neighbor, called: "It's all right, mamma. I'm not the instalment man."—London
Weekly Telegraph.

Terrifying Visions in Dreams.

Dreams about rain or water are
often signs of irritation of the mucous membranes, and the dreamer should not be surprised to wake up with a sore throat. Should you dream of people several times their normal size,
it is an infallible sign that the liver
is affected; while it has been noticed
that when the dreams are of pain in
any particular part of the body there
is something wrong with that part.

Fortune Told by the Pansy.

The streaks on the pansy are supposed to foretell destiny. If the petal
plucked is marked with four lines, it
signifies hope; five, hope sprung from fear; leaning toward the left, a life of
trouble; leaning toward the right, prosperity unto the end; if the center one
is longest, Sunday will be the wedding
day; eight lines denote sickness; nine,
a changing heart; ten on one
petal foretells riches; eleven a large family.

BOARDMAN HAS A COUPLE OF MEN WHO ARE CHAMPS.

A LETTER TO THE HORSESHOE
CHAMPS

Boardman is a little town in the southern end of Clearfield County but
she has within her borders men who do big things from time to time. We often sit by and read of the doings
in other towns, then going out upon
the streets of the village and witness
a scene that makes us feel that little Boardman is all right and these other towns of more pretensions are not so much.

We have been reading in the Progress the last few weeks a lot of guff
relative to the mark of some alleged
experts in the game of "Barnyard
golf" or in polite society, horseshoe
pitching. These noted pit hors, who
pat their fuzzy breasts and murmur
"we can pitch rings around the world"
seem to be located in the West Side
of Clearfield and judging from what is appearing in your paper from time to
time think they can lick all creation.
Now, being men of few words and to make a long story short, we hereby announce that Boardman has a pair of horseshoe twirlers whose equals stand
not in Clearfield County.

These men are Arthur Hall and Oro
Petere and they will pitch any or all those West Side sharks anytime, any place for anything they name and
guarantee to lick them four out of every five games.

Let us hear from your Community
Service champions and give us a chance to show them up.

Yours for sport,
BOARDMAN FERRORS

BUTLER INFANT DIES

Elephant Sprinters.

In spite of the great bulk and lumbering gait, the elephant has been known to exceed 15 miles an hour and
to have kept up a rate of ten miles
an hour for a long time. It is said
that an elephant does not reach proper maturity until it is 40 years old, and
that it may live for over a century.
Darwin calculated that after a period
of 750 years, if breeding were not interfered with, there would be 19,000,000
elephants alive, descended from a single pair. The tusks which are the weapons of the males in their furious
combats, are used by both sexes in everyday life for digging up roots for food.

Pestilential Broom-Rape.

An arch-enemy of clover is the
broom-rape, of which there are no
fewer than one hundred and eighty varieties. Their method of robbery is to penetrate the ground with their roots just as far as the roots of their victims host. On these they fasten
themselves, and feast on the sap
which the victim unwillingly makes
for them. Rape seed never dies. It may lie dormant in the ground for
years; but if it finds itself at just
the right depth below the surface, it
will waste no time in germinating.

Give That Impression.

"Some people," said Uncle Eben
"acks like dey was goin' to church
simply because dey had subscribed
to de buildin' fund and was trying to git deir money's worth."—Washington Star.

A TRIAL WILL CONVINCE YOU.

NOTHING that we could say would so thoroughly convince you of the value of Chamberlain's Tablets as a personal trial. We can tell you of thousands who have been permanently cured of chronic constipation, indigestion, biliousness, sick headache and disorders of the stomach and liver, but this will have little weight with you as compared to a personal trial. That always convinces.

A MODERN FABLE

A naturalist divided an aquarium with a clear glass partition. He put a lusty bass in one section and minnows in the other.

"The bass struck every time a minnow approached the glass partition. After three days of fruitless lunging, which netted him only bruises he ceased his efforts and subsisted on the food that was dropped in.

"Then the naturalist removed the glass partition. The minnows swam all around the bass but he did not strike at a single one. He had been thoroughly sold on the idea that business was bad.

"MORAL: Take another shot at the glass partition. You'll find it isn't there."

In a recent letter written for publication, President Harding said: "We ask no favors, but we do believe in American genius and capacity under equal opportunity."

That is good Republican doctrine. It may well be lifted out of the ship subsidy connection in which Mr. Harding used it and applied to the tariff policy. Staunch Republicans of the old school used to make use of such phrases to justify the temporary imposition of high tariff duties. "We must protect our infant industries," said they. "But when the tariff has served its purpose and our industries are able to make their way, then we ask no favors, but we do believe in American genius and capacity under equal opportunity."

Because of his pride in party traditions, President Harding should be gratified to have called to his attention the fact that he has phrased happily one of the primary doctrines of Republicanism.

The fiscal year in government affairs closes June 30. For the first time in several years the treasury department has been able to report a surplus. While the surplus is not considerable it indicates better financing, which is probably due in a large measure to the adoption of the budget system.

To the budget system are to be accredited several results. First and probably most important, is the check which the system provides for governmental expenditure. Outgo is not allowed to exceed income. With this determination there is opportunity for nicer calculation concerning the national indebtedness. As indebtedness is decreased interest charges are lessened. Decrease in both principal and interest is gratifying to officials in the treasury department.

The full import of the treasury surplus, however, is not fully understood until the total income and expenditure of the government are taken into consideration. Both have been less than during the year ending June 30, 1921, but income has not shrunk so much as outgo has decreased. The surplus for 1922 therefore stands for that "rigid economy" which President Harding promised when he assumed office.

WHERE BEVERIDGE STANDS

Former Senator Beveridge's defeat of Senator New for the Republican senatorial nomination in Indiana was generally recognized as an expression of the strength of the progressive sentiment in the Republican party. Many Democratic papers tried to give it another meaning—a rebuke from Indiana voters to the Harding administration. Under the circumstances it is interesting to be told Mr. Beveridge's own opinion about it. It is an opinion which differs decidedly from that of the Democratic editors.

First of all, the senator-to-be drops a hint to aspiring politicians which many will turn away from sadly. It is to the effect that one of the biggest factors in his political comeback was his biography of John Marshall. It made him friends, he says, by tens of thousands. But how many candidates for the senate have the ability to write as scholarly a life as Beveridge's of America's greatest chief justice? Most of them will have to be content at trying their hands on a scenario, if authorship is to begin playing a part in national politics.

As for the progressive aspect of his victory, Mr. Beveridge conceded that the progressives also contributed greatly. But Mr. Beveridge, in an interview given to a New York woman reporter, says nothing could be farther from the truth than the assertion that the Indiana progressives are against Mr. Harding or that his defeat was a slap at the Harding administration. Mr. Beveridge in fact declares himself one of the president's most earnest and conscientious supporters.

Italy's Famous River.
"Father" of the "Yellow River" of ancient writings, is the historic stream on which lies the city of Rome. The former name suggests the affection with which the Romans regarded it; the latter refers to the color of the water, whose swift current carries down stream great quantities of sand and mud. This sediment deposited century after century at the mouth of the river has built up the land until at the present time the harbor is four miles farther out than in the days of ancient Rome, says Seattle Daily Times.

Horse Is Preferable Anyway.
Evelyn is only four but her parents admit she is "real smart." Recently her grandmother tried to teach her to say "dumke schoon." Evelyn made a good effort with her American tongue and managed this: "Dumke chain." A few days later an occasion arose to use the expression. Evelyn hesitated a few moments and then gave this rather free rendering of the original German: "Horse chain."

The first house deacon has one of the most comfortable homes on the Pacific coast. UNIONTOWN ATTORNEY'S HOME WRECKED BY BOMB

Another Rip-Roarin' Fourth of July Furnished By Legion

J. W. DAWSON AND FAMILY ESCAPE INJURY; FRONT PORCH IS TORN OFF BY BOMB

Uniontown, Pa., July 5.—A bomb was hurled at the residence of Attorney J. W. Dawson here today, tearing away the front porch and damaging windows of nearby residences. The Dawson family were not injured. Mrs. J. B. Adams, who occupies a dwelling on the opposite side of the street, told the police she saw a man leaping in an automobile after he had stepped from the machine and hurled the bomb on the porch.

BUSINESS ON THE UPGRADE WITH EIG INDUSTRIES REPORTING O. K.

Washington, D. C., July 5.—Business is booming again, the Department of Commerce said today. Investigations just made show that the tide of prosperity is rising steadily. The Department issued a warning against business men practicing credence, pointing out that they cause periods of depression.

HOOVER AND DAVIS HOPE TO GET HARD COAL PRODUCTION

Washington, D. C., July 5.—Strong pressure was brought to bear to lay on the anthracite section of President Harding's coal peace conference for a resumption of hard coal operation within ten days. Secretary of Commerce Hoover and Secretary of Labor Davis hope to have the anthracite men reach an agreement to call off the strike by the time the bituminous action commences here next week. An agreement by the hard coal men may swing the soft coal men into line, it is believed.

Mr. and Mr. Charles R. and son of this city spent the Fourth among Clearfield friends.

IRISH GIRLS AND WOMEN PARTICIPATE IN REBEL WARFARE

Kingstown, Ireland, July 5.—Armed bands of bandits and insurgents, including Irish women and girls carrying revolvers and black-jacks, were rounded up and captured in the hills in County Wicklow today by Free State troops. The bands have been invading villages in the valley, descending from the mountains in swift were night raids. Millinery shops were especially singled out for looting by the bandits.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira J. Kramer of Shaw and Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Kramer and family of Clearfield returned from a week end trip to Jersey Shore where they visited the former's daughter, Mrs. R. A. Livingston.

Fourteen Month Old Babe Killed In Tragic Manner

The little fourteen months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dale met a tragic death yesterday afternoon when he fell into a pit at the outhouse of the E. M. Fullington's Sons farm on Hilldale and was drowned.

Mr. Dale was working in the garden in the afternoon and the little tot was playing about the yard. While his father's eye was off him for a minute the child tumbled into the outhouse and fell into the pit.

When he missed the child the father went to the house thinking he had returned to his mother. Not finding him there and remembering he had last seen him near the outhouse, both father and mother rushed into the building and were terribly shocked to see the body of their little one in the pit.

The child was removed as quickly as possible and every effort made to revive him but of no avail. It is thought the child had been in the pit for five minutes before being discovered.

WELL DRESSED GIRL SWEEPED INTO AUTO BY KIDNAPPERS

Philadelphia, Pa., July 5.—Two men in an automobile swept a well-dressed young woman from her feet as she waited for a street car here last night and kidnapped her. Two men who witnessed the kidnapping fired a fusillade after the car and a chase of more than a mile ensued by the kidnappers escaped. Flyers describing the car were flashed to every substation in the vicinity.

BUTCHER WHO SOLD HUMAN FLESH KILLS SELF IN HIS CELL

Berlin, Germany, July 5.—Grossman, the Butcher, on trial for the brutal murder of women he had seduced and whose flesh he later sold in his butcher shop, committed suicide here today by hanging himself in his cell. A sensation was caused in court yesterday when two of his women victims climbed the railing around the prisoner and attacked him with hat pins. Grossman escaped injury after a struggle with the infuriated women.

Leitzinger Bros., Commercial Club and Moore Brothers Carry Off Honor Places In Fine Parade. --- Airplane Men Were Great and Sports Fine.

LET'S GO AGAIN NEXT FOURTH

John Shade Post of the American Legion certainly deserves the congratulation of every Clearfielder and every person who visited Clearfield yesterday to participate in the big 4th of July celebration held by the Legion.

Weather Conditions Ideal

The weather man who had been acting very badly for the month previously, was as good as a boy at Sunday School for the Christmas season and gave us ideal weather conditions. The crowd appreciated the fine weather conditions headed for Clearfield from every point of the compass and by 10 o'clock parade time, the main streets of the town over which the big industrial parade was routed were lined on both sides by solid banks of humanity from curb to building line.

The List of Prize Winners

The parade, which, while not quite so large as last years, was fine in every respect, a large number of the floats eclipsing any previous Clearfield performance.

There were no less than seven bands in the line of march, which added greatly to the spirit and enthusiasm of the patriotic crowd of onlookers.

Parade Was Very Creditable

The parade judges had an unenviable job deciding on the float winner by reason of the high standard of general excellence of this year's floats. Clearfield enterprise and thoroughness was apparent throughout each and everyone and the applause and favorable comment received all along the line compensated those failing to win parade prizes for the effort they made in preparing floats or exhibits. The judges finally agreeing upon the following awards:

First prize for beauty and artistic design was given the beautiful float of Leitzinger Bros. A. W. Leonardson Co. and Clearfield Hardware were even second and third prizes with a statement from the judges that the two displays were so near equal that they were undecided as to which was the better or the more handsome of the two.

In Class No. 2 for the best advertisement or demonstration the first prize was given Moore Brothers, plasters, with the Gearhart Knitting Machine Co. in second place and Boyd Crisman's blacksmith shop on wheels in third place.

Among the fraternal organizations first prize was given to the Commercial Club for its splendid idea and ship, with the Red Men second and Trinity Methodist Choir in third place.

The first prizes in each class were splendid silver cups properly inscribed and the winners have every reason to be proud of their success in this endeavor.

Afternoon at the Park

A splendid program for the afternoon and evening at the park consisted of band concerts, galore, aeroplane stunts, baseball, track and field athletics, horse racing, motor cycle polo, darning, boxing, etc., gave every visitor opportunity to follow his natural bent in seeking pleasure and recreation and left nothing to be desired.

There was something done all the time. Windy South and the airplane stunt opened the program for the afternoon. Hank Cole the fearless aviator with his "dare-devil" stunts handed out some real thrills as he hobbled about on the top of the wings of the machine as it doated gracefully several hundred feet in the air. He completed his part of the program by dropping from the plane in a parachute landing without accident on the flat back of J. C. Meyer's residence on Second Street.

MILLION DOLLAR POSTAL ROBBERY NEARS SOLUTION WITH ARRESTS

New York, N. Y., July 5.—Recovery of $1,500,000 loot from one of the sensational postal robberies in years was near today as Gordon McCarty, human blood-hound, brought the gang of Edward Bryce, alleged gentleman crook, into court Bryce, standing before United States Commissioner Hitchcock with a cane waving on his arm and a monocle on his eye, the Count, as he was known to his gang, was arraigned on charge of robbing the mails of bonds valued at $2,000,000. Charles P. Hinds and Charles Lambert, charged with assisting in the robberies, were also present and arraigned with Bryce. A woman, known as Bryce's wife, was also in the gang. Authorities have unearthed $500,000 worth of swag. $400,000 worth of securities were found buried under a tree on Long Island. The remainder was found in a trunk in Bryce's Gramercy Park apartment.

REBELLION OF RORY O'CONNOR REPORTED TO BE NEARING END

Dublin, Ireland, July 5.—Hemmed in by an inferno of flames and with the guns of the free state troops sending shell after shell to spread the destruction along Sackville Street, the last despairing little band of rebels was at the point of surrender this afternoon. The entire block held by the extremists was afire and the rebellion of Rory O'Connor was near its end. Before nightfall the raging flames must drive the insurgents onto the bayonets of the free state troops or consume them within the buildings they are defending.

General Grant's Boyhood.
Ulysses Grant was what was called in the neighborhood of Georgetown, O., where he lived from his second until he was sent to West Point, "a horse boy." He liked to ride and drive them and was not expected to take kindly to books, and Ulysses was the most of the boys of the age in the fact of being a boy, except only in arithmetic. He learned arithmetic before they took up the written word, and in doing the things given the classes in mental arithmetic, Grant proved a star.

Animal Mimicry.
The powers of nature are frequently the singular resemblances to leaves, dried sticks and so forth, and these likenesses are supposed to have grown out of the necessity of detection a host of concealment. An interesting example of this kind of resemblance was recently cited by a government naturalist, who exhibited a spider and inhabiting some rocks near Cannes, on which were so fastened the cases of a species of moth. When at rest the spider exhibited almost precisely the same form and color as the rocks surrounding it.—Exchange.

CURWENSVILLE

The Fourth of July celebration at Curwensville was a decided success. The cool weather, instead of dampening added zeal to the enthusiasm of the participants. The day opened with an excellent parade at 10 A. M., comprising several bands, the different lodges and numerous beautiful and original floats. The basket picnic at Irvin Park followed. At 2 o'clock the races started. These included the yard dash, high jump, broad jump, three legged race, etc. The winners were awarded valuable prizes donated by the various merchants of the town.

The races were followed by an exciting ball game between Glen Richey and the home team, the latter winning by the score of 4-2. In the evening the town offered various forms of entertainment, chiefly among them being band concerts, fire works and dances at the American Legion rooms and Moose Hall respectively.

Every one felt that he and she owed a debt of gratitude to the committees who had put forth such strenuous efforts to make this day the success that it was.

Fireworks in the Evening

A crowd estimated conservatively at eight thousand people crowded the park during the afternoon and fully one half that number stayed over or returned in the evening for the Legion band concert, the dancing and the fireworks display. The latter was one of the most spectacular seen here in recent years and easily eclipsed last year's effort, giving very general satisfaction.

Boxing Contest Draws Crowd

The boxing contest scheduled for 9:30 attracted a crowd of more than 600 people into the improvised arena erected on the track in front of the grand stand. The efforts of the American Legion and their buddies in the World War greatly popularized boxing. This popularity locally being attested by the character of the fans present last evening, many women being noted in the stands among the lawyers, doctors, bankers, coal barons merchants and unpeopled newspaper men. They were all given a real run for their money. This feature was in the very capable hands of Berna Kelly of McKeesport, one of the most reputable promoters in the Pittsburgh region. He put on a highly creditable card and made many friends during his stay in Clearfield by his gentlemanly bearing and demeanor and his square dealing.

The boxing bouts were three in number and scheduled to give the fans twenty six rounds of action. They did not go the entire route thanks to the fact that knockouts in the first two events made this possible.

K. O. Ferry Gets in Bad

The preliminary brought together Knockout Ferry of McKeesport and Billy Dalton of Altoona. Ferry had a little the edge on Dalton for size and succeeded in roughing his smaller opponent after four rounds of slap bang hammering. At the finish Dalton was knocked against the ropes and tumbled out of the ring on his head. It took his handlers several minutes to bring him around. Ferry was cautioned several times by Referee Bill Davis for unfair tactics in the ring. At the conclusion of the bout when Ferry got out of the ring a local scout called him a coward for his actions in the ring and Ferry swung on the boy. Chief of police McMullen nabbed Ferry and he was saved a trip to the cooler by the Scout kid who told the officer he was to blame for the mixup and asked that Ferry be released.

Jack Provisti Scores K. O.

Jack Provisti of McKeesport, easily disposed of Johnny Kerston of Pittsburgh in the semi-final, a short right to the jaw and left to the stomach laying Kerston low in the fourth round. Boreland and Mulligan Real Battlers Eddie Boreland, the pride of McKeesport and Young Mulligan of Pittsburgh put up a rattling ten round go with honors pretty near even at the finish. Boreland is a rugged slugger of the Dempsey type and handed some mighty heavy wallops. Mulligan was as fast as chain lightning and appeared to have no trouble to land his left on Boreland's head and face but did not have the steam behind his punches the McKeesport battler showed. It was a very pretty exhibition and both boys were given rousing hands at the finish.

Bill Davis the local referee gave general satisfaction as the third man in the ring.

Munson Man Won Car

The Franklin Touring car given away by the American Legion was won by Robert J. Davis of Munson. His was the seventh ticket drawn from the box, that being the one agreed upon before the drawing was held.

Eskimo Not Dainty Feeder.

The Eskimo is not particular about the cut of his meat. He eats everything physically possible of a reindeer or fish or polar bear (and what he does not eat he wears or makes into houses or tools). Particularly does he seem to relish the frozen stomach of the reindeer. This stomach, full of finely chewed reindeer moss, he freezes solid and stores away, according to Doctor Marquis, until he is vitamin hungry, when a piece is sliced off, thawed out and eaten as a rare delicacy.

Chemical Knowledge Spreads.
More and more it is coming to be taken for granted that the chemical elements are made up of identical atoms, and that they differ only in their structural arrangements. More and more the passage from one element to another which has so dumfounded science when it was first observed taking place spontaneously is coming to be a matter of course and something which we may ultimately hope to control.

A curious thing about wireless telegraphy is the way it is affected by sunrise and sunset. Transatlantic signals during the day are invariably clear, but those received at sunrise and sunset are said to be barely distinguishable.

ON THE KIDDIES' MILK DEPENDS THEIR HEALTH

Taking it for granted that your kiddies drink lots of milk, the sort of milk they get either makes or mars their health. If the milk—such milk as we leave on hundreds of porches in this city every morning—is right, the kiddies will thrive and get husky and strong. And that's because they are protected from disease and what not through the medium of pasteurization.

This process does away with all sorts of germs and renders your milk as pure as the driven snow as it comes from the heavens.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

Uncle Sam tells the world that 36-
398,958 of his nephews and nieces
have foreign blood. This means that
one-third of our population have more
recently migrated to America than
the other two thirds of their progeni-
tors. Never-the-less, the country marvelously retains its character. The earlier American stock with its Anglo-Saxon spiritual tradition, benevo-
lently and beneficially assimilates the
millions of newcomers as fellow members in a human democracy—Americans all.

It is just one darn war after another
that is plaguing humanity. Here
we are, just beginning to feel that there is a possibility of ending all
wars between the nations when along
comes a long haired scientist or bug-
ologist who tells us that:

The next war will be a war upon
insects.

Human beings have their differences with each and other and occasionally indulge in a fight, but the enemy
of the entire human race is the insect.

There are five times as many insects as there are kinds of all other
living things put together.

It is estimated that there are 750-
000 sorts of insects, without counting
the parasitic creatures

Of beetles alone there are over 100,
000 varieties

Some time ago a scientist took a census of five ant hills. He killed all
the inhabitants with poison gas and
counted the dead. There were over 100,000 in these five hills.

Some of the hills of the termites or
white ants must contain many millions of inhabitants.

In a hornets nest there are some-
where around 400 population, or perhaps 200 would be a better average.
Even this is too many, for while bees
make honey and even wasps have
their good points, such as killing flies,
the hornet is a bad one. He is a mur-derer, a drunkard, a thief, a cannibal,
also his sting is a serious matter.

One of the greatest enemies to the
human race is the housefly. Prof.
Howard has calculated that a single
female fly, could in one season, become the ancestor of 4,472,280,103-328,713,559,320 flies. Of course if she
produced all these flies and they lived
here would not be room enough on
the planet for such a multitude.

The only way that the number of insects is kept down is by the continual war among themselves and the war
of other animals upon them.

There is a relative term. Human creatures should have peace among
themselves, if only because they need
all their combined energies to war up-
on their common enemies.

America's First "Zoo"
Independence Square in Philadelphia
was the site of America's first zoo-
logical garden. It was there that Charles Wilson Peale, in 1794, transferred the museum which for a decade
previous he had maintained in his home, Third and Lombard streets. The Philosophical society, at Sixth and
Chestnut streets, gave him permission
to use its building for his large collection of portraits of men of the Revolution. He started the zoological
garden in the rear of the building. An eagle was among the living specimens.
Above its cage was an inscription:
"Feed me well and I will live a hundred years."

Reassuring.
Six-year-old Dora returned unusu-
ally early from school the other day.
She rang the door bell. There was no answer. She rang again, a little longer. Still there was no response.
A third time she pressed the button,
long and hard. Nobody came to the door, and she pressed her nose against
the window pane and in a shrill voice,
which caught the ears of every neighbor, called: "It's all right, mamma. I'm not the instalment man."—London
Weekly Telegraph.

Terrifying Visions in Dreams.
Dreams about rain or water are
often signs of irritation of the mucous
membranes, and the dreamer should
not be surprised to wake up with a sore throat. Should you dream of
people several times their normal size,
it is an infallible sign that the liver
is affected; while it has been noticed
that when the dreams are of pain in
any particular part of the body there
is something wrong with that part.

Fortune Told by the Pansy.
The streaks on the pansy are supposed to foretell destiny. If the petal
plucked is marked with four lines, it
signifies hope; five, hope sprung from
fear; leaning toward the left, a life of
trouble; leaning toward the right, prosperity unto the end; if the center one
is longest, Sunday will be the wedding
day; eight lines denote sickness; nine,
a changing heart; ten on one
petal foretells riches; eleven a large
family.

BOARDMAN HAS A COUPLE OF MEN WHO ARE CHAMPS.

A LETTER TO THE HORSESHOE
CHAMPS

Boardman is a little town in the southern end of Clearfield County but
she has within her borders men who do big things from time to time. We
often sit by and read of the doings
in other towns, then going out upon
the streets of the village and witness
a scene that makes us feel that little Boardman is all right and these other
towns of more pretensions are not so
much.

We have been reading in the Progress the last few weeks a lot of guff
relative to the mark of some alleged
experts in the game of "Barnyard
golf" or in polite society, horseshoe
pitching. These noted pit hors, who
pat their fuzzy breasts and murmur
"we can pitch rings around the world"
seem to be located in the West Side
of Clearfield and judging from what is
appearing in your paper from time to
time think they can lick all creation.
Now, being men of few words and to make a long story short, we hereby announce that Boardman has a pair of
horseshoe twirlers whose equals stand
not in Clearfield County.

These men are Arthur Hall and Oro
Petere and they will pitch any or all
those West Side sharks anytime, any
place for anything they name and
guarantee to lick them four out of every five games.

Let us hear from your Community
Service champions and give us a chance to show them up.

Yours for sport,
BOARDMAN FERRORS

BUTLER INFANT DIES

Bligh Butler, eight months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Butler of Lawrence township, died yesterday. The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 P. M. from the home of Mrs. Henry Kuntz at 213
Turnpike Avenue.

Elephant Sprinters.

In spite of the great bulk and lum-
bering gait, the elephant has been known to exceed 15 miles an hour and
to have kept up a rate of ten miles
an hour for a long time. It is said
that an elephant does not reach proper
maturity until it is 40 years old, and
that it may live for over a century.
Darwin calculated that after a period
of 750 years, if breeding were not interfered with, there would be 10,000,000
elephants alive, descended from a single pair. The tusks which are the weapons of the males in their furious
combats, are used by both sexes in everyday life for digging up roots for
food.

Pestilential Broom-Rape.

An arch-enemy of clover is the
broom-rape, of which there are no
fewer than one hundred and eighty varieties. Their method of robbery is
to penetrate the ground with their
roots just as far as the roots of their victims host. On these they fasten
themselves, and feast on the sap
which the victim unwillingly makes
for them. Rape seed never dies. It
may lie dormant in the ground for
years; but if it finds itself at just
the right depth below the surface, it
will waste no time in germinating.

Give That Impression.

"Some people," said Uncle Eben
"acks like dey was goin' to church
simply because dey had subscribed
to de buildin' fund and was trying to
git deir money's worth."—Washington
Star.

A MODERN FABLE

A naturalist divided an aquarium with a clear glass partition. He put a lusty bass in one section and minnows in the other.

"The bass struck every time a minnow approached the glass partition. After three days of fruitless lunging, which netted him only bruises he ceased his efforts and subsisted on the food that was dropped in.

"Then the naturalist removed the glass partition. The minnows swam all around the bass but he did not strike at a single one. He had been thoroughly sold on the idea that business was bad.

"MORAL: Take another shot at the glass partition. You'll find it isn't there."

In a recent letter written for publication, President Harding said: "We ask no favors, but we do believe in American genius and capacity under equal opportunity."

That is good Republican doctrine. It may well be lifted out of the ship subsidy connection in which Mr. Harding used it and applied to the tariff policy. Staunch Republicans of the old school used to make use of such phrases to justify the temporary imposition of high tariff duties. "We must protect our infant industries," said they. "But when the tariff has served its purpose and our industries are able to make their way, then we ask no favors, but we do believe in American genius and capacity under equal opportunity."

Because of his pride in party traditions, President Harding should be gratified to have called to his attention the fact that he has phrased happily one of the primary doctrines of Republicanism.

The fiscal year in government affairs closes June 30. For the first time in several years the treasury department has been able to report a surplus. While the surplus is not considerable it indicates better financing, which is probably due in a large measure to the adoption of the budget system.

To the budget system are to be accredited several results. First and probably most important, is the check which the system provides for governmental expenditure. Outgo is not allowed to exceed income. With this determination there is opportunity for nicer calculation concerning the national indebtedness. As indebtedness is decreased interest charges are lessened. Decrease in both principal and interest is gratifying to officials in the treasury department.

The full import of the treasury surplus, however, is not fully understood until the total income and expenditure of the government are taken into consideration. Both have been less than during the year ending June 30, 1921, but income has not shrunk so much as outgo has decreased. The surplus for 1922 therefore stands for that "rigid economy" which President Harding promised when he assumed office.

WHERE BEVERIDGE STANDS

Former Senator Beveridge's defeat of Senator New for the Republican senatorial nomination in Indiana was generally recognized as an expression of the strength of the progressive sentiment in the Republican party. Many Democratic papers tried to give it another meaning—a rebuke from Indiana voters to the Harding administration. Under the circumstances it is interesting to be told Mr. Beveridge's own opinion about it. It is an opinion which differs decidedly from that of the Democratic editors.

First of all, the senator-to-be drops a hint to aspiring politicians which many will turn away from sadly. It is to the effect that one of the biggest factors in his political comeback was his biography of John Marshall. It made him friends, he says, by tens of thousands. But how many candidates for the senate have the ability to write as scholarly a life as Beveridge's of America's greatest chief justice? Most of them will have to be content at trying their hands on a scenario, if authorship is to begin playing a part in national politics.

As for the progressive aspect of his victory, Mr. Beveridge conceded that the progressives also contributed greatly. But Mr. Beveridge, in an interview given to a New York woman reporter, says nothing could be farther from the truth than the assertion that the Indiana progressives are against Mr. Harding or that his defeat was a slap at the Harding administration. Mr. Beveridge in fact declares himself one of the president's most earnest and conscientious supporters.

Italy's Famous River.
"Father" of the "Yellow River" of ancient writings, is the historic stream on which lies the city of Rome. The former name suggests the affection with which the Romans regarded it; the latter refers to the color of the water, whose swift current carries down stream great quantities of sand and mud. This sediment deposited century after century at the mouth of the river has built up the land until at the present time the harbor is four miles farther out than in the days of ancient Rome, says Seattle Daily Times.

Horse Is Preferable Anyway.
Evelyn is only four but her parents admit she is "real smart." Recently her grandmother tried to teach her to say "dumkie schoon." Evelyn made a good effort with her American tongue and managed this: "Dumkie chain." A few days later an occasion arose to use the expression. Evelyn hesitated a few moments and then gave this rather free rendering of the original German "Horse chain."

House Deacon.
The first house deacon has one of the most interesting histories on the Pacific coast. So bright is the illumination from the light-house that the hall but is a very five miles distant can operate at the night without difficulty. A stranger entering the lens room would soon find himself ablaze with the concentration of sun's rays through the large reflectors that in less than a minute a time a person's clothes become ignited. Heavy blinds have to be kept down during the day to prevent fire—Vancouver (B. C.) Tribune.

FIFTY YEARS AGO
a woman in Lynn, Mass., was sleeping herbs on her kitchen stove according to a recipe of her own, to furnish medicine for the neighborhood. Today, a stone's throw from the little house where she lived, there is a four story laboratory making the same medicine for the women of the world. During the last year almost 500 tons of carefully selected herbs were used in the manufacture of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
